AUTHOR Rahul Sundaram

PUBLISHED 26 December 2024

The Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act, 2013 was enacted to provide protection against sexual harassment of women at the workplace and to ensure redressal of complaints. The Act stems from the recognition that sexual harassment is a violation of fundamental rights guaranteed under the Constitution of India, including the right to equality (Articles 14 and 15), the right to life with dignity (Article 21), and the right to a safe working environment.

The legislation was formulated in response to the Supreme Court's landmark Vishaka judgment and aims to fulfil India's commitment to international conventions like the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women (CEDAW).

Key Definitions Under the Act

- A woman of any age, employed or not, who alleges to have faced sexual harassment at a workplace.
- Includes women employed in domestic spaces such as dwelling houses.

2. Employer:

- Includes the head of any department, organization, or institution in the public sector.
- In the private sector, it refers to the person responsible for management, supervision, and control of the workplace.
- For domestic workers, the employer is the individual or household employing them.

3. Employee:

What Constitutes Sexual Harassment?

Under the Act, sexual harassment includes one or more of the following unwelcome acts or behaviors:

- Physical contact and advances.
- A demand or request for sexual favours.
- Making sexually coloured remarks.

- Threats of adverse consequences in employment.
- Creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work environment.
- Humiliating treatment likely to affect a woman's health or safety.

Recourse Available to Women Facing Sexual Harassment

1. Filing a Complaint:

- An aggrieved woman can file a written complaint to the Internal Complaints Committee (IC) if her workplace has one or to the Local Complaints Committee (LC) if the workplace lacks an IC (e.g., fewer than 10 employees).
- The complaint should be filed within three months of the incident. This period may be extended by an additional three months if circumstances prevent timely filing.

2. Conciliation:

- Before initiating an inquiry, the woman can opt for conciliation to resolve the matter amicably. However, monetary settlements cannot be a part of conciliation.

3. Inquiry Process:

- If conciliation fails, the IC or LC will conduct an inquiry into the complaint.
- The inquiry must be completed within 90 days, and a report must be submitted within 10 days after completion.

4. Interim Relief:

During the inquiry, the aggrieved woman can request measures such as:

- Transfer to another workplace.
- Grant of leave for up to three months.
- Any other relief deemed appropriate.

5. Assistance for Criminal Proceedings:

- If the sexual harassment amounts to an offense under the Indian law, the IC or LC must assist the woman in filing a police complaint if she so chooses.
